DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. On line 3 of claim 6, "the back of the flange" lacks antecedent basis.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 7-9, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yablochnikov (hereinafter "Yab"). Yab teaches the claimed invention including pressing the exterior of tube 12 against a mold piece 34B (See Fig. 9). Regarding claim 9, the mold 24B is considered to have a curved surface.

3. Claims 1-3, 5 and 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gibson et al. or Daehn et al. Gibson (Column 5, lines 1-5 and claim 9 and Figs. 3-10) and Daehn (Fig. 13b) both teach the claimed invention of inserting a coil within a tubular member and forming what can be called a flange thereon as broadly recited.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daehn et al. or Gibson et al. Both the prior art references teach the claimed invention excepting the particular power level used in the electromagnetic former and the thickness of material used in the workpiece. The prior art is silent as to this subject. Yet it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used what ever thickness of material desired to arrive at a desired product; the amount of energy used to satisfactorily form the workpiece with a electromagnetic former would have manifest itself under routine experimentation.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
